Problem we are trying to solve? Why is it Important

Problem:

- Many rising college freshmen do not have a way to find a university that is the right fit from the shared experiences from current and past students from said university.
- Students do not have a place to share criticism about certain categories of a university, for example, categories like dining, housing, academics, athletics, etc.

Why is it important:

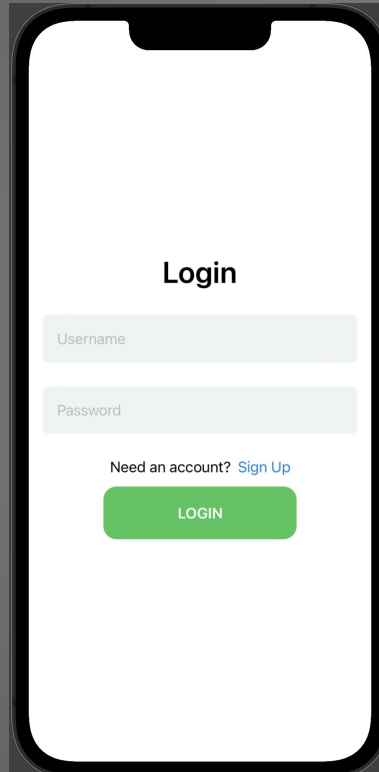

- Most students try to find the right pick of a university not just based on GPA, test scores, and financial situation, but based on attractive traits of the school.
- Is dedicated platform for current and past students to have their concerns or praises heard about a university/college.
